From e-mail: "Natural wet slides... caused us to back off our plan of heading that way and ski a north, shady aspect instead. On a southern aspect. 9000ft. 1:30pm. We dug a hasty pit and observed a weak layer about 1m down. The facets were beginning to round." Photo: K. Master

Advisory Region
Northern Madison
Longitude
-111.32W

Latitude
45.30N
Avalanche Details: Wet loose slides near Big Sky
Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Tue Mar 24, 2020
Northern Madison, 2020-03-23