Small wind formations in the Bridgers

Date
Wed, 03/06/2024 - 11:30
Activity
Skiing

Toured up on the ramp yesterday. In wolverine bowl, another skier and I both popped small wind pockets (6” deep at the most) about half way done the slope on a north facing roll. We also saw lots of snow transport up high on the ridges all day, as well as some slight warming on direct south faces.

Region
Bridger Range
Location (from list)
Wolverine Bowl
Observer Name
Jay Alford