

This surface hoar is now buried under an inch or two of snow. It was found up Swan Creek in the northern Gallatin Range. Buried surface hoar can be a persistent weak layer and we'll be keeping close tabs on it. Photo: W. Shoutis

Advisory Region
Northern Gallatin

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Tue Feb 1, 2011

