

A skier on Ramshorn Peak in the southern Gallatin Range got shooting cracks and observed a recent avalanche in wind loaded terrain. This is a good reminder that isolated instabilities still exist on wind loaded slopes. Photo: C. Kussmaul

Advisory Region
Southern Gallatin

Avalanche Details: Cracking in southern Gallatin Range
Southern Gallatin, 2018-12-14