

This natural slab avalanche was observed off Buck Ridge in the northern Madison Range. It appears to be a wind loaded slope that was triggered by a small cornice fall from the ridge above. Photo C. Lenay

Advisory Region
Northern Madison
Northern Madison, 2015-03-21